DOCOSoft Appointed To Provide Talbot Underwriting Ltd with a Replacement Claims Management System

London, 4th July 2013: DOCOSoft, a developer of claims management, document management and workflow software solutions for the global insurance market, is pleased to announce that we have entered into a multi-year contract with Talbot Underwriting Ltd to provide a new Claims Management System for their Lloyd's operation.

DOCOSoft will be supplying Talbot with its DOCO Claims system, which is designed to increase efficiencies in claims handling and cost management, as well as providing a means for enhanced reporting. The system will also simplify Talbot's processes for complying with Lloyd's Minimum Claims Standards. Implementation will begin immediately and is expected to conclude in Q4 of 2013. The contract was won via a competitive tender.

Matthew Budd, Head of Claims at Talbot, commented: "DOCOSoft have demonstrated that they can meet our bespoke claims system requirements. We are proud to partner with DOCOSoft who have been responsive and flexible to our business needs."

Aidan O'Neill, Head of DOCOSoft, commented: "DOCOSoft is delighted to embark on this new working relationship with Talbot, and we look forward to providing them with a cutting edge claims management and reporting solution. This is our sixth new client in the London Insurance Market in the past 12 months, which underscores our unique capabilities and reach."

DOCO Claims is a leading system provider for Lloyd's and London market claims handlers; it's flexibility of screen design and rules-based business processing ensures that the specific requirements of each class of business are addressed.
